

The Spiritual DNA of CAA

We all know that our thoughts result into our actions. Where do these thoughts emerge from? What are the trigger points of these thoughts? Garbage in would result in Garbage out. What we feed into our system turns into our thoughts and subsequently our belief system. Brain works in a pattern and we see only what we want to see and understand only what we can relate with our belief system. The story of CAA in today's time has become somewhat a similar story.

Our mind controls the energy flow in our system. When we get an infection or a disease, our mind channelizes the energy in such a way that the antibodies start to move towards the affected area to cure it. This infection most of the time is a result of some previous action taken by us, an action which was governed by our thoughts. If we try to get to the root cause of the thoughts which triggered the infection or our action, we would see some influencing layers or influencers at play. These influencing layers are mostly the external factors which influence our mind. The infected cells or the anti-bodies both are part of the same system but governed by two different energy flows. Infection comes from external influence and anti-bodies are part of the inner defence system. One would argue that, sometimes an external force is required in form of medicines to treat the infection, for sure an external force is required but only when the infection goes out of control. Remember, the external force does not bring new anti-bodies to the system but only speeds up the process of producing more anti-bodies to treat the infection quickly. To treat the infection it is important to speed up the process of producing more anti-bodies, which can be achieved by channelising the right energy flow in the system.

It is always about the energy, its consumption and conservation which can be optimised by the proper flow of it in the right direction for the right cause. If you cannot control the energy flow system in your body, you will end up losing it out to the external environment and someone else will consume it to his or her benefit.

Every action leads to a flow of energy which results into endergonic and exergonic reactions. Endergonic reactions generate power and positive results as energy gets absorbed by the system and the reverse happens in exergonic reactions where energy moves out of the system. The reactions within the infection result in exergonic reactions and you lose your vital energy further making you weak, on the contrary the anti-bodies create an endergonic reaction which heals the infection.

We have multiple players in this transaction of CAA – the influencers, infected cells, anti-bodies and then holding all of these, is you. Should your thoughts be governed by the influencers? How would you fight the infected cells? How would you channelise the anti-bodies through the right flow of energies? Each of you may have a different understanding of influencers, infected cells and anti-bodies based on your belief system and the only way you can identify it correctly is to remove the influencing layers on your belief system and bring out the real you from inside - Your Core, Your Spiritual Self, the YOU in you. This will help you understand the real players in the system and real solutions to the problem. Conserving the energy alone isn't the solution nor is the consumption of it alone. The solution lies in the optimal use and flow of the energy to bring the endergonic reaction. Each of us will have to find our own ways to identify, accept, analyze and adapt so we bring positive results.

We are all spiritual beings and in the quest of power we forget, that we have limited time on this planet. A time where we have to not only to build and grow but also deliver back to nature. We must learn to create endergonic energy reactions, so the new cells - new generation - get a better and powerful beginning. The only thing of essence here is the time and the choice is ours.
